

Pugs in a Blanket

BY J.J. HOWARD

Sam's parents run a catering company, which doesn't leave them much time for Sam. Though she has begged for a dog, her parents say they are just too busy. When she finds two abandoned pug pups wrapped up in a blanket on her back porch, Sam just has to take them in. But after Sam's pug posts go viral online, the dogs become mini celebrities, and someone comes forward to claim them. Is Sam going to lose the pups she's fallen in love with?
