A timeless and timely picture book that celebrates the unassuming power of kind words.

"Lala's Words is really about magic; a special kind of magic called kindness. Like the sunlight and the falling rain, kindness nourishes the world around us. This book, with its lovely art and whimsical story, will also nourish the reader." — The Fan Brothers (The Night Gardener, Ocean Meets Sky)

"Much like an encouraging word, the vibrant pictures in this book will lift you up." — Christian Robinson (Last Stop on Market Street, Another)

Born in Vancouver, British Columbia, now living in Brooklyn, New York, Gracey Zhang is a picture book talent to watch!

Lala's Words*A Story of Planting Kindness*

By (author) Gracey Zhang 🇨🇦, Illustrated by Gracey Zhang 🇨🇦

On Sale: Apr 06, 2021 | Hardcover $25.99

From debut author-illustrator Gracey Zhang comes a timeless and timely picture book that celebrates the unassuming power of kind words.

Oh, there goes Lala! She carries a pot of water around the corner, down the block, and over the fence, to a patch of dirt and concrete where tiny weeds sprout. "Hello, hello, friends!" she whispers. Lala waters the plants every day, but it is her kind words that make them sway and nod.

Lala's wild nature and quiet compassion enchant in this evergreen story about the power of kind words and the magic of being loved for who you are.

Contributor Bio

Gracey Zhang is an illustrator and animator with a love of storytelling and verse. She was born and raised in Vancouver, Canada, and received her degree in Illustration from RISD. She is now based in Brooklyn, New York, where she can be found window watching from the train when she's not scribbling away at her desk. Lala's Words is her first picture book. Mmm, Cookies!

By (author) Robert Munsch 🍁, Illustrated by Michael Martchenko 🍁

On Sale: Mar 01, 2000 | Paperback $7.99

Robert Munsch cooks up some mischief in this scrumptious tale — now with a fresh new look!

When Christopher goes into the basement and sees a pile of play clay in the corner, he decides to cook up some mischief. Wap, wap, wap - he shapes the clay into cookies, and then decorates them with sugar, icing and raisins, all of play clay.

Christopher's parents are touched when he presents them with a beautiful batch of cookies—until they actually try one and find out the cookies were made from play clay! YUCK!

When Christopher goes to school, his teacher helps the class make the most incredible cookies of all.

Perfect for read-aloud, this fun book is perfect for April Fool's Day — or any day that needs some laughs! Now reissued with a bright new cover design.

When Robert Munsch worked in daycare, he used to play a game with the kids. When they were at the play clay table, he would come over and say, "Has anybody made me a cookie today?" Each kid would then make him a clay cookie and laugh when he tried to eat it. The kids NEVER got tired of it, and eventually all those stories turned into this single story!

Contributor Bio

Robert Munsch started telling stories when he was teaching in a daycare, to get the kids to settle down. Now he is Canada's number one author for young readers with more than 80 books in print, including such bestsellers as The Paper Bag Princess, We Share Everything!, So Much Snow! and Love You Forever. Every one of his stories was first told aloud to children — and each one is dedicated to the kid who inspired the story. He is a member of the Order of Canada, has a star on Canada's Walk of Fame, and is a hero to generations of young readers. Robert Munsch lives in Guelph, Ontario. Visit him online at <http://scholastic.ca/munsch/>.

Michael Martchenko has illustrated dozens of books, and is most famous for his work with Robert Munsch, including Smelly Socks, Makeup Mess and We Share Everything!. He lives in Burlington, Ontario.

By (author) Robert Munsch 🍁, Illustrated by Michael Martchenko 🍁

On Sale: Mar 01, 2003 | Paperback $7.99

Lauretta has a need for speed – in her super-powered wheelchair!

It's finally time for Lauretta to get a new wheelchair. But she isn't satisfied with a regular 5- or 10- speed model. Nothing will do but the 92-speed, black, silver and red, dirt bike wheelchair!

When Lauretta gets a speeding ticket during her tryout of the super wheels, her parents tell her the wheelchair has to go back. But when her brother has an accident, only Lauretta and her 92-speed, black, silver and red, dirt-bike wheelchair can get him to the hospital in time!

With his trademark wit and whimsy, this classic Robert Munsch story celebrates that all kids can use their own strengths and talents to do great things! Now reissued with a bright new cover design.

Robert Munsch wrote this story after receiving a letter from a fan named Lauretta, who asked for a story about a girl who walks with crutches and uses a wheelchair.

Once upon a time, in a deep,
dark forest, far, far away,
there lived an old brown bear.

One day, the bear embarked upon a magical journey.

Oh, no! No! No! No! Hold it right there!
Not another book about bears!

He encountered and benedict the famous Esquilax.

Before long, the brown bear had wandered the woods where the face with the hand scale.

The bear appeared to be the of the rare,
a horse with of a rabbit,
and the body of it.

Err, bear, you're kind of interrupting my story. What's the problem?

Do you know how many books have been written about us?
I'll tell you . . . too many!

Oh please, NOT another book about bears! Bears are TIRED. SICK and TIRED. Just when they are in the middle of something really good — like sleeping, snoozing or napping — there comes a storybook that makes them stop what they are doing — that is, sleeping — and get up and be part of a story. Every story.

Well, the bears have had enough. They are going on STRIKE!

But what animal could take their place? Find out straight from the mouth of bears, in this hilarious interactive story from rising Australian husband and wife team Laura and Philip Bunting.

Three seals are perched on a rock. When others need shelter, do they share it?

When read from front to back, the group of seals firmly believe there is no room on their rock for the parent and child seal who are seeking a place to rest. Readers are then encouraged to read the story again, from back to front, revealing a welcoming message where the seals make room for others and share their rock.

This clever picture book explores the idea that there are two sides to every story, with one story that can be read in two different ways. A gentle lesson to facilitate discussion around sharing and larger themes of societal compassion and inclusion.

Room on our Rock won the NCTE Charlotte Huck Award, for fiction that has the potential to transform children's lives by inviting compassion, imagination, and wonder.

Brady Brady

Brady Brady and the Twirlin' Torpedo

By (author) Mary Shaw 🇨🇦, Illustrated by Chuck Temple 🇨🇦

On Sale: Jan 05, 2021 | Paperback $6.99

The Icehogs stand up against bullies on the ice in this latest Brady adventure!

Tes is one of the best players on the Icehogs, famous for her spinning, goal-scoring "twirlin' torpedo" move. But when Brady, Tes and the rest of the Icehogs face off against the annoying Hounds, Tes can't get around to do her go-to move.

The Hounds have singled her out because she's a girl and won't let up on the teasing. Brady comes up with an effective — and hilarious! — solution. The Hounds can't bother Tes if they don't know which player she is!

The Brady series is much-loved by teachers and coaches for its engaging character education themes. In Brady and the Twirlin' Torpedo Brady and his friends confront issues of bullying, teamwork and acceptance.

Contributor Bio

Hockey runs deep in Mary Shaw's world. Her husband is former professional hockey player, now turned coach, Brad Shaw and the character of Brady Brady is based their son, who plays professional hockey in the ECHL. Mary and her family have lived in Waterloo, Italy, Hartford, Ottawa, Detroit, Cincinnati, Tampa and St. Louis, but now call Kanata, Ontario home.

CHUCK TEMPLE began his career at the age of 18 when his first comic strip, Bernie on the Beat, went into syndication. He studied at both the University of Guelph and the Ontario College of Art, and cites Bill Watterson, creator of Calvin and Hobbes, as his favourite cartoonist. He also enjoys coaching and playing hockey. He lives in Kitchener, Ontario.

Set amidst Toronto's turbulent summer of 1933, this graphic novel sheds light on prejudice and social injustice.

A letter from Ted Staunton

My grandpa, W.J. Stewart CBE, was Mayor of Toronto when the riot at Christie Pits happened. He never talked about it to me; I was young when he died, in 1969. Besides, his duty and principles spoke for themselves, and Grandpa was only part of a story that was everyone's. Later, when I learned more, I wanted to share that story, and a bit of his. The Good Fight is the result.

August 16, 1933 was a pivotal moment for Canada. It made us face the future, whether some chose to look then or not. More than ever, the time to look – and hear the story again – is now. I think Grandpa would agree.

The Good Fight

By (author) Ted Staunton , Illustrated by Josh Rosen

On Sale: Apr 06, 2021 | Paperback $16.99

A fast-paced story set amidst Toronto's turbulent summer of 1933, this graphic novel sheds light on prejudice and social injustice.

It's Toronto in the 1930s. The city is small, often xenophobic, and the summer is stiflingly hot. Everyone flocks to the lakeshore. In one area of the beach, a neighbourhood protective association has formed to keep out "undesirables," and members patrol wearing silver swastika pins. Meanwhile, the police chief believes the immigrant Jewish community is at the root of a communist threat, as the world witnesses an alarming rise of anti-Semitism overseas.

Sid and his Pop live at the edge of the Ward, Toronto's immigrant slum, where they have rented a room from the Vendetellis since Sid's mom and baby sister died from influenza. Times are tough, and Sid faces impossible choices as he wrestles with honesty, bigotry, poverty, and expectations as a member of a "whiz mob," slang for a gang of pickpockets.

But when Sid and his friends get coerced into working for the police after they're caught lifting a wallet at a baseball game, they become caught up in something much bigger than themselves, and must decide how far they will go to do what's right and to protect those they love. The story climaxes at the infamous Christie Pits Riot, Canada's largest race riot and a historic event that was a symbolic victory for Jewish and immigrant citizens.

With extraordinarily cinematic artwork that immediately transports readers to the Toronto of 1933, this incredible graphic novel shines a striking lens on many contemporary issues: the immigrant experience, the roots of prejudice, and taking a stand against injustice.

Notorious

By (author) Gordon Korman

On Sale: Jan 05, 2021 | Paperback $9.99

A classic Gordon Korman middle-grade comedic mystery, set (partly) in Canada!

Keenan is bored. He is recovering from tuberculosis, acquired while overseas with his mom. Now he's stuck sitting in a lawn chair at his dad's place on Centerlight, Michigan, an island of about 7000 residents in the St. Clair River which is divided in two by the Canada-US border.

When Keenan meets a girl his age, ZeeBee, who lives on the Canadian side of the border, his life becomes anything but boring. ZeeBee is full of conspiracy theories. Paramount among her theories is that notorious gangster Tommy-Gun Ferguson (original owner of the house she now lives in) buried millions in treasure on the island during the Prohibition era. She's also convinced her recently deceased dog Barney was murdered — apparently he was a notorious terror and not a favourite among the locals.

Keenan isn't convinced by either of these theories, but soon some clues turn up that even he can't ignore. Will the pair of them find the treasure and solve the mystery of what happened to Barney ... or will the dog-murdering criminals find them first?

Told in Gordon's now classic multi-voice style, Notorious combines mystery, comedy, and a story of new friendships.

UnpluggedBy (author) Gordon Korman

On Sale: Feb 02, 2021 | Hardcover $21.99

King of middle-grade, Gordon Korman's new standalone novel full of mystery, humour, friendship . . . and alligators!

Jett Baranov is Silicon Valley's number one spoiled brat. The son of a billionaire tech genius, he has everything money can buy, which means he's in the habit of getting into a lot of trouble. When one of his stunts brings in the US Air Force, Jett's father sends him off to Oasis Mind and Body Wellness center where he'll be unplugged and disconnected from the outside world.

Of course Jett hates it instantly and does his best to get himself kicked out. But it's not as easy as he thinks. When Grace Atwater rescues a defenseless lizard, Jett is drawn into caring for the little guy with the help of Grace, Tyrell Karrigan and Brooklyne Feldman. But things aren't as they seem at Oasis. There's something going on with the head meditation pathfinder, Ivory — something dangerous that threatens the future of all the guests at Oasis. And Jett is the only one who can put a stop to it.

Told in Gordon's now classic multi-voice style, Unplugged combines mystery, comedy, friendship . . . and don't forget about the crocodiles!

Like a Duck

By (author) Deborah Kerbel

On Sale: Mar 02, 2021 | Paperback $9.99

From the author of My Deal with the Universe, a lighthearted, tender story of a girl and her steadfast duck.

I spend a lot of time thinking about what Grandad said that day Webster first went missing. How if you spend too much time dwelling on the things you've lost, you might not notice what you've got in its place. And how sometimes those things can be just as wonderful. But in a different way.

Sarah is turning twelve. For the last ten years, ever since her dad mysteriously left, Sarah and her mom have always celebrated together for an entire birthday week. But when Sarah finds out that this year her mother has to work, and that she's signed Sarah up last minute for a week of culinary school instead, things go from bad to worse.

At least the camp has agreed to let Sarah bring her duck, Webster. Sarah knows that with Webster by her side, she can handle whatever comes her way. But then Webster goes missing, just as Sarah's search for her absent father comes up empty as well. Will she have to say yet another painful goodbye?

In a story about love, friendship, search for identity, and the hardship of loss, Sarah finds joy and strength in unexpected friendships and learns that when we focus so much on chasing answers we can forget to notice what we already have.

Up the Creek

By (author) Natalie Hyde

On Sale: Jan 05, 2021 | Paperback $9.99

Has Chris Dearing finally broken his family's run of bad luck? Find out in this hilarious, high-stakes companion to Mine!

After a lifetime of bad luck, Chris Dearing is sure his family fortunes have finally turned around. With the help of some friends, he's reclaimed his granddad's old land in Dawson City, Yukon, and is adjusting to life with his new foster parents. While he waits for his dad to get out of jail — and get sober — Chris turns his attention to his next challenge: finding the gold that he knows is somewhere on his family's claim.

What's standing in his way? A few things: a) he doesn't know a thing about gold mining, and it turns out there's a lot more to it than a pan in a creek; b) Lucy, the attack goose guarding the local junkyard; c) the fact that Family Services keeps getting in the way; d) two Filthy Rats trying to swindle Chris's dad out of the gold; oh, and last but not least, e) the rumours that Chris's grandfather didn't actually find his gold — he stole it.

The stakes are high and the hijinks even higher in this touching, witty companion to Mine!

Praise for Stand on the Sky:

"The prose crackles with energy. . . I'd be amazed if any kid nine and up could resist reading it right through to the end without stopping the way I did." — Michele Landsberg, CBC Children's Book Panel

"Bow's poetic prose heightens the story and deepens it, her rich turns of phrase tucking their own sharp wisdom into the mix." — The Toronto Star

"...a story of strength, courage, and resilience that will resonate with anyone who has ever felt abandoned, alone, or doubted themselves and their place in the world." — Quill & Quire

A note from Erin Bow:

My time in Mongolia is all over these pages: the goats and the milking, the water pails, the mountains, the smell of the dung fire, the summer weather, the Choco-Pies, the way the light seeps in around the doorframe of the ger at dawn. I even incorporated the bit from my diary where we had all the gers loaded into a truck, which was then intercepted by horsemen from a rival family. "It was like a scene from a movie," I wrote. "Specifically, it was like the scene from a movie where people are killed by Kazakh horsemen."

So this is a Mongolian story. But I hope it is also a universal story: about family, belonging, adventure, courage, and love.

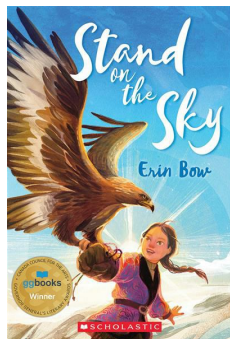

Ultimately this is my story. I was that child who was loved but also cut adrift because I was the one not in crisis. I was that child spending endless hours with books of animal friendship and long days exploring the woods behind my house.

Because there is really a rising generation of Kazakh girls taking up the ancient art of eagle hunting, I'm often asked if this is one of their stories. It's not. But it's all true. And I made it all up. And that's fiction.

Stand on the Sky

By (author) Erin Bow

On Sale: Feb 02, 2021 | Paperback $12.99

Erin Bow's Governor General's Award-winning title — now in paperback!

She had always heard that the eagle chooses the eagle hunter. She wanted that. She wanted her eagle to come to her. To choose her.

It goes against all tradition for Aisulu to train an eagle, for among the Kazakh nomads, only men can fly them. But everything changes when Aisulu discovers that her brother, Serik, has been concealing a bad limp that risks not just his future as the family's leader, but his life too.

When her parents leave to seek a cure for Serik in a distant hospital, Aisulu finds herself living with her intimidating uncle and strange auntie — and secretly caring for an orphaned baby eagle. To save her brother and keep her family from having to leave their nomadic life behind forever, Aisulu must earn her eagle's trust and fight for her right to soar. Along the way, she discovers that family are people who choose each other, home is a place you build, and hope is a thing with feathers.

Erin Bow's lyrical middle grade debut is perfect for fans of original animal-friendship stories, in the tradition of Pax and Because of Winn Dixie.

Spectacular School Trip (Really...) (Tom Gates)

By (author) Liz Pichon, Illustrated by Liz Pichon

On Sale: Jan 05, 2021 | Paperback $9.99

Will Tom be able to stay out of trouble long enough to make it on the school trip?

Tom's doing everything possible to stay out of trouble, but somehow he's got THREE sad faces on the school achievement chart! And getting another sad face means Mr. Fullerman won't let him go on the SCHOOL TRIP! Moany Marcus Meldrew is making things worse.

If that's not enough, Tom's grandparents, The Fossils, are getting married (again). His mum's gone all 1970s, his dad's got a new novelty car, and grumpy Delia is FURIOUS about something.

Can his best friend Derek help? And will Rooster the dog stop eating his homework?

Contributor Bio

When Liz was little, she loved to draw, paint, and make things. Her mum used to say she was very good at making a mess (which is still true today!). She kept drawing and went to art school, where she earned a degree in graphic design. She worked as a designer and art director in the music industry, and her freelance work has appeared on a wide variety of products. Liz is the author-illustrator of several picture books. Tom Gates is the first series of books she has written and illustrated for older children. Don't Tell the Nazis

By (author) Marsha Forchuk Skrypuch 🇨🇦

On Sale: Feb 02, 2021 | Paperback $9.99

Marsha Forchuk Skrypuch (author of Making Bombs for Hitler) crafts a story of ultimate compassion and sacrifice based on true events during WWII.

This was previously published, and is currently available in paperback, under the title Don't Tell the Enemy.

The year is 1941. Krystia lives in a small Ukrainian village under the cruel -- sometimes violent -- occupation of the Soviets. So when the Nazis march into town to liberate them, many of Krystia's neighbors welcome the troops with celebrations, hoping for a better life.

But conditions don't improve as expected. Krystia's friend Dolik and the other Jewish people in town warn that their new occupiers may only bring darker days.

The worst begins to happen when the Nazis blame the Jews for murders they didn't commit. As the Nazis force Jews into a ghetto, Krystia does what she can to help Dolik and his family. But what they really need is a place to hide. Faced with unimaginable tyranny and cruelty, will Krystia risk everything to protect her friends and neighbors?

Contributor Bio

Excerpt from Zara Hossain is Here:

"I found a note in my locker today," I say as quietly as possible. Then I brace myself.

"A note? What kind of note?" Ammi says, her voice a little high, the way it gets when she knows nothing good is coming.

"I was going to tell you," I reply weakly. "Someone left a nasty note, but I took it to the principal immediately."

Abbu pins me with a stern glance. "And did Mr. Trevino find out who it was?"

"No, but he's going to talk to the students."

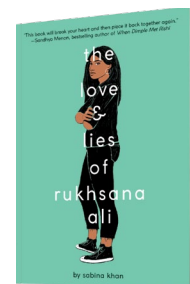

"Ye principal se kuch nahi hoga." Ammi has reverted to Urdu which is never a good sign. She only does this when she is very worked up. Luckily Nick and his family have witnessed this before and are not surprised. Nick's abuela breaks out in Spanish all the time. I love it especially if it involves Nick getting in trouble.

"Nilufer, it's okay. We'll get to the bottom of this," Abbu says calmly. "But what did the note say, Zara?"

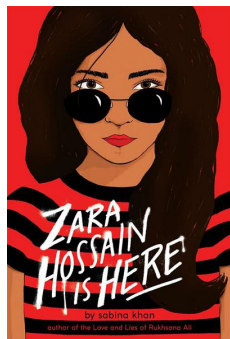

"Nothing, just some stupid stuff," I say.

But unfortunately for me, my parents are not easily fooled.

Zara Hossain Is Here

By (author) Sabina Khan

On Sale: Apr 06, 2021 | Hardcover $24.99

Zara's family has waited years for their visa process to be finalized so that they can officially become US citizens. But it only takes one moment for that dream to come crashing down around them.

Seventeen-year-old Pakistani immigrant, Zara Hossain, has been leading a fairly typical life in Corpus Christi, Texas, since her family moved there for her father to work as a pediatrician. While dealing with the Islamophobia that she faces at school, Zara has to lay low, trying not to stir up any trouble and jeopardize their family's dependent visa status while they await their green card approval, which has been in process for almost nine years.

But one day her tormentor, star football player Tyler Benson, takes things too far, leaving a threatening note in her locker, and gets suspended. As an act of revenge against her for speaking out, Tyler and his friends vandalize Zara's house with racist graffiti, leading to a violent crime that puts Zara's entire future at risk. Now she must pay the ultimate price and choose between fighting to stay in the only place she's ever called home or losing the life she loves and everyone in it.

From the author of the "heart-wrenching yet hopeful" (Samira Ahmed) novel, The Love and Lies of Rukhsana Ali, comes a timely, intimate look at what it means to be an immigrant in America today, and the endurance of hope and faith in the face of hate.

Meet Thérèse Casgrain (Scholastic Canada Biography)

By (author) Elizabeth MacLeod 🍁, Illustrated by Mike Deas 🍁

On Sale: Feb 02, 2021 | Hardcover $16.99

Meet Thérèse Casgrain, who battled for women's equality and social justice, and was the first woman to lead a political party in Canada!

The award-winning Scholastic Canada Biography series highlights the lives of remarkable Canadians whose achievements have inspired and changed the lives of those who followed.

From 1916 to 1925, women across Canada were starting to win right to vote, province by province... but not in Quebec. It took another fifteen years of protest and the leadership of Thérèse Casgrain for women there to begin to win that right. And that was only the start of Thérèse's 50-year career! She decided to change things from inside the government too, becoming the first woman to lead a political party in Canada. And although Thérèse may not have been elected, her decades-long fight for equal rights, health care, and world peace is in itself a victory.

Written by award-winning author Elizabeth MacLeod, this portrait of Thérèse Casgrain couples simple yet compelling writing with comic-flavoured illustrations by Mike Deas that help bring this fascinating story to life!

The Beekeepers: How Humans Changed the World of Bumble Bees (Scholastic Focus)

By (author) Dana L. Church

On Sale: Mar 02, 2021 | Hardcover $25.99

Dive deep into the world of this everyday insect -- and the science behind its uncertain future.

Bumble bees are as familiar to most of us as the flowers these fuzzy insects feed upon. But did you know that the bees in your garden could be escapees from a local greenhouse, or descended from stowaways on a Viking ship?

Bumble bees are a vital part of our lives and Earth's ecosystems, so much so that we've commercialized their breeding and shipped them across states, countries, and ecosystems for our benefit. However, all of that human interference has consequences. Bumble bees are pushing out native species and altering ecosystems worldwide. Pesticide use has led to the spread of disease in local colonies. And some species may be disappearing entirely.

The Beekeepers is an expertly researched overview of bumble bees -- from hive hierarchies to how their brains work -- and the passionate humans and scientists who are fighting for their survival. With a thoughtful and accessible voice, researcher Dana Church introduces readers to the fascinating world of bumble bees, how and why some are thriving while others are floundering, and how both experts and regular citizens are working to ensure their future. Equal parts endearing, frustrating, and hopeful, this scientific narrative is essential for readers looking to understand and make an impact on our changing world.

Contributor Bio

Dana Church studied bumble bees for her PhD at the University of Ottawa, Canada. As a kid she loved making little books about science topics. This is her first published book. She lives in southern Ontario with her husband, two children, and their big, black, friendly dog. You can find out more about Dana and her writing at danachurchwriter.com.

"This book, with its lovely art and whimsical story, will also nourish the reader."
- The Fan Brothers (The Night Gardener, Ocean Meets Sky)

From debut author-illustrator Gracey Zhang comes a timeless and timely picture book that celebrates the unassuming power of kind words.
